

ARES ONLUS – Associazione di ricerca e sviluppo sociale

Research and social development Association

“ARES Onlus” is an Italian association of social promotion, solidarity and progress, which, since 2005, carries out activities in favor of people with disabilities, children at risk, families and / or individuals in conditions of economic and social hardship. In order to better realize its objectives, "ARES Onlus" has always committed itself to:

- cultural, educational and entertainment activities, aimed at encouraging the sphere of autonomy of each user, and, periodically, planned in the team, through the development of "Individualized Educational Plans", provided by the internal procedures of the Management System for the quality
- educational activities to support teaching, at institutions and schools
- psychological assistance services for its users and for their families
- conferences, cultural outings, excursions for tourism, study and / or leisure, disco nights and other events of social gathering and social integration
- interactions with Agencies and Institutions

In addition to carrying out the aforementioned activities, the Association has been involved in important social projects.

Between 2011 and 2012, "ARES Onlus", as coordinating and host organization, implemented the "TRAPANI AND TOURISM: A NEW INSIGHT" project, as part of the "Youth in Action" Program, for integration and cultural exchange in the countries of the European Union.

From 2016 "ARES Onlus" collaborates with "CONFAGRICOLTURA TRAPANI", on issues and problems of the agricultural and environmental sector.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

TITLE: "IL GUSTO DELLA SOLIDARIETA'" ("THE TASTE OF SOLIDARITY")

START DATE: MARCH 2019

PLACE: BUSETO PALIZZOLO, DISTANT A FEW KM FROM TRAPANI (SICILY-ITALY)

ACTIVITIES: 38 HOURS FOR WEEK (09-13 AM/14-18 PM)

Our volunteers will be engaged in an eight-month journey during which we will provide them the opportunity to know and personally create typical local dishes and other products characteristic of the Sicilian wine and food culture. Food is "an instrument of identity". Cooking and consuming dishes, are not just the usual, mandatory actions, but go far beyond the need to eat; they are actions that create real opportunities for reflection, comparison, interaction and conviviality.

Volunteers will have the opportunity to learn about and experiment with techniques related to the cultivation of aromatic plants and to the production of honey, oil, wine and other agricultural products. In addition to the implementation of the aforementioned "company" activities, the project will look at our cultural and natural heritage, promoting its knowledge - through the identification of tourist itineraries and excursions - and dissemination - through special tools and dissemination material. Equally important moments of our project will be those related to the reception and management of the guests of the accommodation, with particular regard to the "vulnerable groups". In favor of guests with reduced opportunities for integration, socio-educational and animation activities will also be supported, during which volunteers will be able to collaborate actively, proposing ideas and initiatives. With the project "The Taste of Solidarity", we want to provide the tools necessary to create real learning opportunities and to encourage the development of skills aimed at facilitating access to the world of work. Moreover, a growing sector, such as tourism, is a real source of job opportunities, allowing young people to adapt the type of activity to their preparation and inclination character and professional.

We want to propose a training experience that combines knowledge and know-how, orientating the aspirations of young people, open them to the employment prospects, strengthen the ability to respond to social challenges and promote the acquisition of linguistic, intercultural, transversal and metacognitive skills.

PRACTICAL AND LOGISTIC ASPECTS PROVIDED FOR A VOLUNTEER PROJECT

Our volunteers can immediately take advantage of our accommodation, equipped with entrance-living room, small room used as a kitchen, bathroom, bedroom, television and wi-fi. Accommodation available to the volunteers could be shared only between people of the same sex. The accommodation will remain at the disposal of volunteers on their free days and on holidays. Local transport, board, lodging, outward and return journey, will not involve any expenses for the volunteers, to whom - in order to be able to incur additional personal expenses - will receive, weekly, or monthly, the allowance corresponding to the sum set by the European Commission. For proof of travel expenses only, they will be required to submit invoices / receipts / travel tickets. Taking into account the preferences and / or needs, expressed by our volunteers, we will provide them with meals or a voucher for food purchases. Before departure, the volunteers will be enrolled in the insurance scheme of the European Solidarity Corps, and will sign the insurance planned for the volunteer, which will complement the coverage of the national social security systems, and will be valid for the entire duration of the project. For the entire duration of their stay in our city, volunteers will be able to make use of the support of our mentor, the which will offer attention, listening, guidance, guidance and will collect any requests for help or assistance in case of health problems or bureaucratic. "ARES Onlus" will strive to promote and maintain a climate of mutual trust and to put in place the most appropriate conditions for overcoming possible inconveniences and / or personal conflicts.
